OverviewEconomicsHistoryTechnologyRecordsSystemsMaglev trains currently runningProposed maglev systemsAs more maglev systems are deployed, experts expect construction costs to drop by employing new construction methods and from economies of scale. The Shanghai maglev demonstration line cost US$1.2 billion to build in 2004. This total includes capital costs such as right-of-way clearing, extensive pile driving, on-site guideway manufacturing, in-situ pier construction at 25 metres (82 ft) intervals, a maintenance facility and vehicle yard, several switches, tw...
